STUDY CASE

we design

Large, light, strong, and with an easily accessible and montly-updatable LED-lit display area that requires no more than 2 people to update the display. SICC's requirements were clear, concise, and gave us a perfect focus point for our creativity.

The sign frame was welded together out of aluminium to give the best strength-to-weight ratio and ensure decades of rust-free use outside in the elements (and we certainly tasted those elements on installation day as we worked through the rain to get the sign up).

To support the sign we dug holes for concrete footing to be poored and dry over a period of a week to ensure a a solid and stable base for the sign to stand on.

This sign received the full suite of our in-house talent to ensure the engineering, design, electronics, and ease of use elements were exactly what our customers demand from us.

All stages of the design, fabrication and installation was done in-house!

It takes no more than 2 people and 20 minutes to completely change the sign's display, allowing SICC to quickly and continually inform visitors of any club activities, festive specials, or any other information SICC wishes to communicate to passersby.

As such the sign fully complies with our customer's guidelines and wishes. Another project perfectly executed to every detail by Maneki Signage!
